

At New Memphis, we believe there is so much to celebrate about our city, but our very best quality is our people. So, we've made it our business to develop, activate, and retain talented professionals in Memphis for the past three decades.

Because we understand that great people make a city successful, we intrinsically understand that great people also make an organization successful. We are currently looking to grow our team, and you might be the leader who fits the bill.

Position: Manager of Stakeholder Engagement

Position Overview

Do you know how to build rapport, connect the dots, and drive win-win arrangements? Are you energized by getting the small details right to make a significant impact? Reporting to the Senior Director of Development, the Manager of Stakeholder Engagement will support and grow relationships between New Memphis and its partners and stakeholders, including private-sector companies, foundations, and individual supporters. This individual is a skilled communicator and project manager who is adept at relationship building, time management, collaboration, and bringing strategy to life. The Manager of Stakeholder Engagement is a creative self-starter who looks for ways to innovate, problem-solve, and take initiative and is equally comfortable presenting in the board room as they are with spreadsheets and note-taking. This is someone who has a passion for Memphis and believes the people of this city are what make lasting change possible.
